

I'm so glad that we decided to partner with WorldSkills UK. It's a wonderful opportunity to recognise, reward and celebrate young people with talented skills in this country, and we do so every day of every year up and down the country with colleges, schools, young people, parents and educators but here's an opportunity to do it on a world stage and to really bring to life and reward and celebrate all of their talents.