

English for every future: An A to Z of careers

A

Actor

Embody every role you choose with a strong understanding of characters, dialogue, story arcs and motivations.

B

Barrister

Use your English knowledge to compose crucial advice for clients, and flex your public speaking skills in varied situations.

C

Coder

Create accessible programmes and websites, connecting with readers and users around the world.

D

Digital marketer

Engage with the public and other consumers through slick communication on different platforms.

E

Early years teacher

Be someone who inspires the very youngest learners to read, write and get creative.

F

Fundraising coordinator

Transform lives, communities and organisations with persuasive campaigns to spark donations and change.

G

Graphic designer

Bring brilliant ideas to life in a visual way, by understanding the concepts and creative potential behind them.

H

Healthcare assistant

Empower others to heal and feel heard during difficult times, using empathy and understanding.

I

Illustrator

Collaborate with authors and editors to develop work that transforms words into unforgettable images.

J

Journalist

Capture readers' attention with crafted news stories, keeping them informed about fast-changing world events.

K

Kennel manager

Oversee the day-to-day running of a kennel as its top dog, handling urgent admin and coordinating colleagues with paw-fect communication.

L

Learning coordinator

Devise structured development programmes to help staff in schools, settings or businesses succeed, setting them up with what they need to learn.

M

Music promoter

Manage and develop the careers of the next superstars, refining your outreach and marketing skills to help talented musicians take the stage.

N

Nutritionist

Rewrite the way your clients see food, getting inside their personal stories and creating new plans that support their physical and mental wellbeing.

O

Ornithologist

Expand our understanding of birds and their habitats, translating your observations into written and spoken findings that change perceptions.

P

Public health officer

Educate and inform the public about the latest health issues affecting local, national and global communities.

Q

Quality consultant

Give independent expert advice to companies who want to improve their products and services, setting the highest standards wherever you go.

R

Radio producer

Write scripts, check for errors and edit great shows, as the person behind the scenes shaping what hits the airways.

S

Speech and language therapist

Make your language knowledge the tool that unlocks essential communication skills for vulnerable people.

T

Tour guide

Share true tales of culture, history and people in a captivating career for those who love reading, researching and roaming.

U

University librarian

Surround yourself with books, academic papers and the latest in research, assisting academics and students to access valuable texts and training.

V

Visual effects supervisor

Work through whole films, episodes or TV series, making sure each scene sparks to life as scriptwriters, directors and studios want to see it.

W

Writer

Become the writing mind behind new projects, promotions, campaigns, bestsellers and so much more besides.

X

Xenolinguist

Support film, books or wider sci-fi fantasy content that is out of this world by using your linguistic skills to study, interpret and communicate in alien or extraterrestrial languages.

Y

Youth advocate

Empower and safeguard young people who can speak, write and drive change through you, making sure their voices are heard.

Z

Zoology professor

Climb to the top of the tree in zoology, publishing research and preparing lectures to influence generations of animal specialists.

Find out more: go.pearson.com/letstalkenglish

#EnglishMatters