What is the Global Scale of Languages (GSL)?

The Global Scale of Languages (GSL) is an innovative language learning framework developed by Pearson. It aims to give educators and learners a structured approach to understanding proficiency across various languages, including French, Italian, Spanish, and German. The GSL is built on the principles of the Global Scale of English (GSE) and offers a 10–90 scale with detailed learning objectives for each point, allowing for personalized learning journeys.

Assessments your organization can trust

Whether you need a comprehensive evaluation of language skills, or require a targeted assessment of specific abilities, our language skills assessments provide the flexibility and reliability needed for successful, high-volume talent acquisition, as well as accurately assessing employees as part of learning and development programs.
