VISIT OR AVOID?

What's the right type of holiday for you?
Get the advice of our travel experts and readers.

Valentina is from Chile. She's 27 years old and she loves shopping and sun. She wants to go somewhere special in January or February.

VISIT Dubai

It's one of the fastest-growing cities in the world, and it's also one of the best for shopping. What other city has an annual shopping festival? It's a long flight for Valentina, over 17 hours from Santiago, but if she has a couple of weeks to spare, she'll find that cosmopolitan Dubai is right up her street.

The weather makes it too hot to walk outside for much of the year (though it should be fine in January) so shopping malls are one way to escape the heat. Dubai Mall, for example, has over 1,200 shops – more than some small cities. And just like small cities, some of its malls have theatres, art galleries and even indoor ski slopes.

If all this seems a bit too artificial, Valentina could try the Dubai 'souks', which are a kind of traditional market. They aren't quite as beautiful as the bazaars in Turkey and Morocco, but they're worth visiting anyway. It's where the locals go and it's a good place to learn to haggle and pick up some bargains!

AVOID most of Europe. Cities like Edinburgh, London, Paris and Berlin are great for shopping, but there's not much chance of seeing the sun in January or February!

COMMENTS

I've just come back from two weeks in Turkey. The ancient ruins at Ephesus are amazing. I think it's exactly what you're looking for.

Lulu\_RT, Germany, 6.10 p.m.

Try Los Angeles. You'll find plenty of places to shop till you drop!

LucyLane, USA, 4.09 p.m.

You should spend a couple of weeks in St Petersburg and Moscow. I've been around the world and to my mind you can't beat these two cities. There are hundreds of malls so you won't be disappointed.

Yuri55, Russia, 3.35 p.m.

If you're looking for a quiet time, you should come to Luton. It's just won an award (for Britain's most boring city!).

Cal\_M, UK, 2.23 p.m.

Landon is from Australia. He's 24 and he's studying archaeology at university. Landon wants a holiday with lots of local history and culture ... and a few sandy beaches to relax. He hates crowds and noise.

VISIT Thailand, Cambodia and Vietnam

It sounds like a lot of travelling, but there's so much to see! Fly into Bangkok and spend a few days visiting the beautiful floating markets, the Old City and, of course, the Grand Palace – the historic heart of Thailand. With its temples, halls and extraordinary architecture, it's a must-see!

Then travel overland to Angkor Wat in Cambodia. Angkor Wat is a huge temple complex which contains the largest religious building in the world. About 500 years ago, Angkor Wat was mysteriously abandoned and only rediscovered 150 years ago.

After that, fly to Halong Bay in the north of Vietnam. Thousands of tiny islands seem to float in the blue waters of the bay. Some people call it the Eighth Wonder of the World. There's certainly nowhere quite like it.

AVOID the 'party islands' like Koh Samui. With their 'full moon' parties these are great for some people, but not for people like you who hate noise!

I think I'm very lucky compared to my mum's generation.

IT'S A FACT!
The population of Shanghai in 1990 was 13 million. By 2010 the population was 23 million!

3a 3.5 Listen to Pan (49) and her daughter Jasmine (24) as they talk about how Shanghai has changed. Check your answers to exercise 1. Did they say the same things as you?

b Listen again. Overall, are Pan and Jasmine positive about the changes or negative? Give reasons for your answer.

Language focus 2

Different ways of comparing

A travel blog

2 Which of these things do Hannah and Florence do? Write H (Hannah), F (Florence) or HF (both).

- 2 Mention some history
- 3 Talk about feelings
- 4 Describe the hotel
- 5 Mention places visited
- 6 Describe sights and sounds

Venice

Hannah Gormley, September 2nd

We arrived in Venice about midday on Friday. It's a nice old city. The only way to get around Venice is to walk. It's the best city in the world for couples. The first place we went to was Piazza San Marco. It was pretty. We ate an ice cream. Then we walked along the Grand Canal and saw the Bridge of Sighs. It's nice but busy. In the evening we had a meal in a restaurant and then we went to bed.

Escape from Alcatraz!

Florence Wall, September 3rd

We arrived in San Francisco on Tuesday afternoon. The first thing I noticed was how beautiful and cosmopolitan it is here. In the 1960s it was home to the hippy movement, but nowadays it's home to a lot of internet companies like Twitter. Because of this, some parts of San Francisco are very smart and expensive while other parts are a bit more old-fashioned and arty. Landmarks like the Golden Gate Bridge are world-famous, but seeing them for real is quite special. However, our hotel isn't special at all. We've got a tiny, dirty room and the beds are awful. I had a very restless night.

On Wednesday morning we took a boat to Alcatraz, the famous prison on an island in San Francisco Bay. It closed in 1963 and these days it's a popular tourist attraction. Jennifer was feeling a bit seasick by the time we arrived, but it was worth the trip. The island is small and rocky. You can hear the seagulls and smell the sea air even in the prison. The prison itself is like a huge factory. I would hate to be in prison there, but Jennifer thought that it was nicer than our hotel!

3a Read the tips for writing a good blog. Find examples of each tip in Florence's blog.

- 1 Be honest. Talk about the good and the bad times.
- 2 Use all your senses: write about what you saw, heard, smelt, felt and tasted.
- 3 Give some basic facts about the place you visited.
- 4 Use interesting adjectives to describe the place (e.g. old-fashioned, huge).

b Which tips did/didn't Hannah follow? Make six ordinary adjectives in her blog more interesting.

c Add the following facts to Hannah's blog in the correct place.

- 1 ... which was designed by Antonio Contino.
- 2 ... that was founded around 1,500 years ago.
- 3 Venetians call it 'the Piazza'.
- 4 ... because no cars, buses or trains are allowed in.

4a You are going to write a travel blog.

EITHER write a blog for a journey you made in the past (imagine you are there now).

OR write the blog of someone visiting your area for the first time.

Make notes under the headings in exercise 2.

b Write the first draft of your blog. Use the checklist below to help you.

- Have you followed all the tips for writing a good travel blog?
- Have you used past tenses and comparatives correctly?
- Have you used capital letters for place names?
- Have you checked your spelling?

5a When you have finished, swap with a partner and comment on his/her blog. Use the checklist above to help you. Would you like to read more of your partner's blog?

b Read your partner's comments and ask him/her for more information if necessary. Then write the final draft of your blog.

AFTER UNIT 3 YOU CAN ...

Describe and compare different places.

Make recommendations about places to visit and why.

Ask for information when travelling.

Give a written description of a place you have visited.
