SITUATION Sandy and Tamara are college roommates. They are going to a party at the university. Sandy has some advice for Tamara. What is her suggestion?

Sandy: Tamara, wait a minute...

Tamara: What?

Sandy: Is that what you're going to wear to the party?

Tamara: Well, yeah. Don't you love it?

Sandy: Tamara, that's very... revealing...

Tamara: Why, thank you.

Sandy: No, what I mean is, it's too... sexy. Why don't you change into something a little more... normal?

Tamara: Normal? You think I should look "normal"? I want to look attractive.

Sandy: But we're going to a party for the physics department. You look like you're going to a club.

Tamara: What should I wear? A white lab coat... maybe safety goggles?

Sandy: Hah-hah. Funny. I just want you to look intelligent. You're the top student in our class.

Tamara: Oh, thank you! But you know there are going to be a lot of cool guys at the party, right?

Sandy: So?

Tamara: Well, I don't want guys to think I'm too smart.

Sandy: Oh, Tamara. Wh-why?! Why do you do that? Whenever you meet a cute guy, you hide how intelligent you are.

Tamara: Hey, this is another kind of smart. It's called flirting.

Sandy: Aren't you worried that men aren't going to take you seriously?

Tamara: Guys don't like it when you sound too smart.

Sandy: But it's the truth! You are smart. Be yourself.

Tamara: I am being myself. They already know I'm a physics major. That's why we're invited.

Sandy: Well, suit yourself. But I want guys to know that I'm intelligent.

Tamara: Good for you.

Sandy: But you, you just smile and pretend you don't know anything.

Tamara: Don't you think a woman can be both—beautiful and smart?

Sandy: Yes!

Tamara: Then we agree. That's why I'm wearing this dress.

Sandy: You're terrible. You know, a real man will appreciate you for your talent—and not just your looks.

Tamara: Well, let's go find out. Hurry! We're going to be late for the party!
