What I learned last weekend.

I went to an Adventure Camp with my friends last weekend.

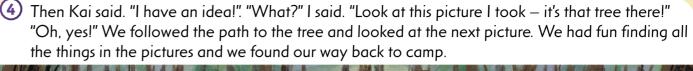

On the first day, we went mountain biking in the forest. The plan was to go to a lake to swim outdoors and see the sunset.

I was in a group with my friend, Kai, for mountain biking. We didn't have cell phones, but Kai had a camera. He loves taking pictures.

Kai took pictures of all the birds and wild animals he saw. I wanted to go faster and get to the lake. I was angry with Kai because we were far away from the rest of the group. "Come on, Kai!' I yelled. "Be quiet, Ezra!" he yelled back, "You're scaring the wild animals!" We argued a lot.

"I'm sorry I got angry, too," said Kai, "And I'm sorry you didn't swim outdoors." "That's OK," I said "We had a better adventure!"

- 3 Read again and write answers.
  - 1 Who wrote the blog?
  - 2 What did Ezra want to do?
  - What did Kai take pictures of?
  - 4 How did they find their way back to camp?

- (a) They helped each other.
- (b) They learned from each other.
- C They had fun.
- What's important for building a relationship? Number in order.
  - Help each other
- Say sorry
- C Have fun together

- d Learn from each other
- e Listen to each other

Hi, Karl. I argued with my friend, Lucy, yesterday. I wanted her help, but she didn't listen to me. She knows I always want help with math, but she went out and had fun with our other friends. I had to do my homework by myself and I'm not very good at it.

Useful Language

I'm sorry we argued.

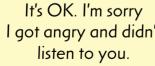

I'm sorry I didn't listen.

Let's talk about it.

Act out the conversation between Adriana and Lucy.

I'm sorry I didn't help you, but I always do your math for you.

Living and non-living things

LESSON 8 My world

Watch the video and answer.

What living and non-living things are in your classroom?

Explore Read, listen, and circle.

a People and birds / trees grow slowly.

c Eggs have growing babies / seeds inside them.

Living things look very different from each other. People look different from trees. Fish look different from elephants. But all living things have some similarities.

Grow All living things grow. It is many years before some things become adults - like trees and people. Other things grow into adults in just a few months, for example, birds and flowering plants.

Eat and drink All animals eat food and drink water. Plants drink water through their roots. They make their own food from the sun! Living things need nutrients from food to make energy. They need energy to move and grow.

b Plants drink water through their nutrients / roots.

Breathe air Breathing in and out is something we do almost every second. Plants and animals use air to make energy. Animals use oxygen from the air with nutrients from food, to make energy.

Move Birds fly, monkeys climb, fish swim, and you run around. Animals move a lot! You don't see plants running around or flying. but plants can move very slowly. They move towards the sun to get more sunlight.

Reproduce To reproduce means to make new living things. Animals have babies or lay eggs with babies growing inside. Many plants make seeds that grow into more plants.

Think Complete and add more words.

Tips

Presentation

- Start your presentation with "Hello, I'd like to tell you about ..."
- Don't read from your scrapbook.
- Let your friends ask questions.

I went to the lake I swam outdoors and explored a cave!

Did you throw stones in the lake?

Writing: seapbook

- Start sentences with a capital letter.
- Connect two ideas in a sentence with and, but, or because.
- Use bullet points (•) to make lists.
