HAVE YOUR SAY!

Students say ...

Our teachers are always telling people off, they should be more lenient! I don't often get into trouble because I'm 1 _____ and I always do my work. I'm not a 2 _____ though; I don't spend all my time studying. But not everyone's like me. Teachers should help students develop their learning skills and critical thinking, not just tell us facts!

I really struggle with reading because I'm 3 _____, but all my teachers have been brilliant! They've taught me different ways to improve my reading skills and supported my learning both at school and at home using online tools.

Teachers say ...

I'm quite a 4 _____ teacher and I think pupils should do what they're told. It annoys me when 5 _____ students interrupt, shout and mess around. I also dislike 6 _____ who threaten other students physically or verbally. I don't tolerate it in my classroom. I enjoy teaching all my students, but it's a real pleasure to teach 7 _____ students who make strong academic progress.

1 Read the text quickly and choose the best title for it.

- 1 The Real Rain Man
- 2 The Biggest Slice of Pi
- 3 The Man with the Amazing Mind

Daniel Tammet is a linguistic and mathematical genius. He speaks eleven languages, performs complex mental arithmetic in seconds, and on March 14, 2004 publicly recited pi from memory to 22,514 decimal places. It took him five hours and nine minutes. However, since childhood, despite his phenomenal mental abilities, Daniel has struggled to learn the personal skills that most of us take for granted: communication, empathy and the ability to see the big picture.

Daniel's skills and limitations are the result of Asperger's syndrome, a form of autism. He is a high-functioning autistic savant who possesses similar abilities to those of the character played by Dustin Hoffman in the film Rain Man. 'I'm lucky,' he says, 'because most others who have rare abilities are also seriously disabled.'

Life is easier for Daniel now that he is in his thirties, but growing up with autism was tough for him and his family. As a baby, he used to cry constantly and only repetitive motion would stop him. 'As a result, he never played with other children, or even with toys. 'Numbers were my toys,' he says.

To him, numbers have colours, shapes, textures* and personalities. He has described his visual image of 289 as particularly ugly, and 333 as particularly attractive. Three is green, five sounds like a clap of thunder, and thirty-seven is lumpy*. This cross-connection between unrelated senses is known as synaesthesia, and in Daniel's case it allows him to 'experience' numbers rather than calculate them. As he explains, 'When I multiply numbers together, I see two shapes. The image starts to change and evolve, and a third shape appears. That's the answer.'

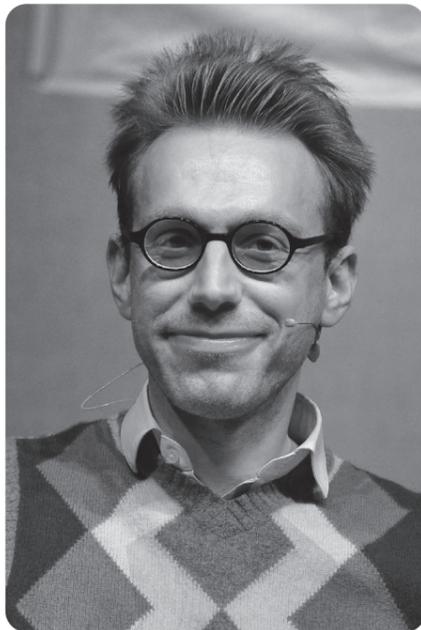

It was this unique ability that helped him to remember pi to so many decimal places, back in 2004. 'To me, it is as beautiful as the Mona Lisa,' he explains.

Daniel has many gifts often associated with autism. He can copy a picture so accurately that it could have been traced*, and he planned his autobiography Born on a Blue Day without taking a single note. Nevertheless, he is more aware of the many things he can't do. He knows, for instance, that he is difficult to live with because he cannot understand what others are feeling. He admits that most of the time, he has to pretend to show emotions. 'He reveals that when his cat died, he cried and understood grief* for the first time.'

In 2004, Daniel met Kim Peek, the savant on whom Rain Man was actually based. Unlike Daniel, Peek, who passed away in 2009, was unable to manage daily life independently. 'We swapped facts and figures like others swap gossip,' says Tammet. With the help of his father, Peek travelled America spreading the message that difference is not necessarily a negative thing.

Like Peek, Daniel is putting his gifts to good use. He gives regular lectures, has written three successful books, and been the subject of numerous studies and documentaries. Much of his work involves helping scientists understand how the brain works. 'I used to long* to be like other people,' he says. 'But they tell me that I have the same effect on them as Professor Stephen Hawking. That in the contradiction* between ability and disability, they see humanity.'

2 Read the text. Complete gaps 1–5 with sentences A–F. There is one extra sentence.

- A Despite these limitations, he is slowly extending his emotional range.
- B At school, he struggled to read body language or make eye contact, finding it impossible to interpret how other people were feeling.
- C Born on a Blue Day was named 'Best Book for Young Adults' in 2008 by the American Library Association.
- D Remarkably, though, he was able to read two pages of a book at once, one with each eye, and remember every single word.
- E There are only about fifty savants in the world (all men), but Tammet is unique in being able to describe how his mind works.
- F Tammet describes seeing the number as a landscape through which he travelled in his mind.

3 Read the text again. Are statements 1–7 true (T) or false (F)?

- 1 The film Rain Man is partly based on Daniel's life story.
- 2 Unlike other savants, Daniel is able to explain his remarkable abilities.
- 3 At school, Daniel didn't find interacting with others easy.
- 4 Daniel claims he can see, hear and feel numbers.
- 5 Daniel may not actually be experiencing the emotions he shows to other people.
- 6 Kim Peek and Daniel Tammet wrote a successful book together.
- 7 Daniel says that people sometimes confuse him with Professor Stephen Hawking.

Getting Ideas

Do you sometimes find it really difficult to B ideas for school projects? Most of us know the problem. It <sup>1</sup> _____ to be easy when we were younger – we had great imaginations and loads of creativity. But it gets harder and harder. So, you're sitting at home trying to think of interesting things to put in an essay or a story. Or you <sup>2</sup> _____ your brains all day, but you can't remember that great idea you had last night. You're <sup>3</sup> _____ and your mind is empty. So what do you do? You <sup>4</sup> _____ trying, of course! However, this may be entirely the wrong approach.

Experts say that one of the best things to do is to stop <sup>5</sup> _____ about the problem completely. Change the space you're in. Move into another room or go outside. Another answer is to <sup>6</sup> _____ worrying about it for a while. Go for a walk or take a shower and think about something completely different. Ideas or the answer to your problem will pop into your head like magic!

It's also important to keep your <sup>7</sup> _____ sharp and train it to be creative! If you regularly <sup>8</sup> _____ lots of things, the mental exercise can help when you really need to access those ideas quickly.

Tidy desk, better thinker?

If you find it hard to settle down to study, you might want to take a good look at your desk. Is it messy with stuff scattered all around? Experts are now encouraging people <sup>1</sup>_____ tidy their desks as the clear space will enable you to think better and I'm a fan of this theory. When I was younger, I <sup>2</sup>_____ to leave piles of books and papers on my desk in between cold cups of tea and snack wrappers, so of course I was <sup>3</sup>_____ losing things. Each time I sat down to study, I had to search for whatever I needed and inevitably ended up wasting a lot of time and getting frustrated. Finally, after racking my <sup>4</sup>_____ I came up with a method of organising everything. I bought some bookshelves and big files and then organised the books and put the papers in the files, each file for a separate subject. Now, after studying I <sup>5</sup>_____ always tidy everything away so, the next time I sit down, my desk is clear. It definitely helps me study!

READING

Education for all

We usually associate long and rewarding careers with older people who have had time to go deeply into their subject and have worked in the field for many years, but in fact it's not always the case. <sup>1</sup>___ Then, by the time she was seventeen, she was already running a successful foundation, giving lectures and talks at universities and international events as well as making films, all of which focus on education and climate change.

Whilst Oduwole has roots in Africa, she was born and grew up in Los Angeles. Her first trip to Africa came about after she entered a national film-making competition. <sup>2</sup>___ In order to film scenes for the documentary, Oduwole travelled to Ghana and was even able to conduct interviews with some of the people involved in transforming the country.

It was during that trip that Oduwole first realised she had a passion for education. She saw many young girls on the streets and realised they were not attending lessons and got the urge to do something to help. <sup>3</sup>___ As part of this role, she speaks to young people about the importance of school and getting a good education. She also organises the DUSUSU awards which honour African first ladies and ministers who strongly support education for girls and gender equality.

Whilst these achievements already seem unbelievable for such a young woman, she hasn't stopped there. <sup>4</sup>___ When classrooms are flooded and children can't get to school then they quickly fall behind with their studies and many give up altogether. She has met various presidents to discuss this issue and has given speeches to the United Nations and UNESCO on green initiatives.

<sup>5</sup>___ One of her more recent projects involves giving workshops to girls and women under the age of twenty-five to help them acquire skills in basic film-making techniques, in the hope that it will empower them to share their own stories, and if possible, enable them to make money.

Whilst Oduwole gives much of her attention to helping girls, she believes her work does not exclude boys. <sup>6</sup>___ She hopes that by setting an example of what females are capable of achieving, males will gain an understanding of the need for equality and the difficulties their classmates and colleagues can face. She understands, too, that life in parts of Africa can be difficult for everyone. Her focus at the moment is to ensure girls and women experience equal opportunities in life, which is undeniably a big task, especially for someone so young.

1 Read the text on page 18. Complete gaps 1–6 with sentences A–H. There are two extra sentences.

- A After her return to the United States she started her foundation, Dream Up, Speak Up, Stand Up (DUSUSU) which signalled the beginning of her mission as a powerful education advocate.
- B When she speaks at schools and events, her audiences are made up of all genders and she hopes that her talks make an impact on everyone present.
- C Oduwole's group made a film that impressed their teacher so much that they won first prize.
- D The project was to create a film about a revolution, and since Ghana saw what is considered to be one of the most successful revolts on the African continent, Oduwole chose it as her subject.
- E Oduwole understands the threat that climate change poses to education.
- F At the age of nine, Zuriel Oduwole started a successful career as a film-maker which inspired her to look for ways to encourage girls in Africa to attend school.
- G She has written to various presidents and governments with ideas about how to encourage children to stay in the classroom when their parents want them to go out to work.
- H Despite spending much time speaking at events and campaigning for equality, Oduwole still finds time to develop her own film-making and to share her knowledge with others.

2 Read the text again. For questions 1–4, choose the correct answer, A–C.

- 1 Why did Zuriel focus on Ghana for her first film?
  - A She had met some of the people behind the revolution and wanted to learn more.
  - B She had previously travelled to Ghana and wanted to encourage girls to attend school.
  - C Ghana's political history was appropriate for the topic of the competition.
- 2 What is the purpose of the DUSUSU awards?
  - A To recognise people who are working to improve the opportunities available to females.
  - B To put the wives of African presidents in the spotlight so they can help more women and girls.
  - C To enable Oduwole to give speeches to young people about attending school.
- 3 Why has Oduwole chosen to focus on climate change?
  - A She wants to give speeches on the topic to the United Nations.
  - B She thinks climate change is misunderstood by young people.
  - C She sees a connection between climate change and students dropping out of school.
- 4 What impact does Oduwole hope to have on boys?
  - A That they will campaign for equality in Africa with their classmates and colleagues.
  - B That they will understand more clearly the problems young women in Africa have.
  - C That they will learn to set a good example for their male friends and family members.
