Introduction

Everything an ELT Teacher needs in one toolkit, to help you save time, effort and resource in supporting your lessons and helping your students make progress.

Use it for lesson planning, scaffolding, setting goals, measuring learner progress, choosing coursebooks, Graded Readers, dictionaries, skills titles and assessments. Use it also to find grammar, vocabulary topics, skills and checking the level of texts to use in class. Everything in one place, accessible anywhere, anytime and for free. If your students are learning English to help them gain a certification to help them find employment or apply for a visa, you can also take a look at the academic skills and job roles and skills which you can find by selecting the type of learner (academic learner or professional learner), at the beginning of your search.

The Global Scale of English (GSE) Teacher Toolkit is a free online resource, created in collaboration with thousands of English language teachers from across the world. Not only does it help you measure your students' progress in English, but it also offers guidance on learning objectives, so you can plan the most effective lessons possible. It features a powerful search function that returns suggested grammar points, vocabulary topics and learning objectives, alongside job profiles, coursebook suggestions and a wealth of learning resources. You can also filter results by student level and age, and organise your search results by language skill or communicative skill. Of course, all the results are all linked to specific levels on the GSE and the CEFR, making it even easier for you to find relevant ideas.
