Answers will vary.

LETTER 1

Dear NO TIME FOR FRIENDS,

Your problem is shared by many others. When you get up in the morning, you should decide what is most important to do that day and then do it first. Why don't you try making a list and numbering it from most to least important? Just remember that in life you need to balance having fun with studying. Good luck!

LETTER 2

Dear PRESENTLESS,

Buying the perfect present takes time. You should start by thinking about the kinds of presents your friend has given others. People often give the things that they would like to receive. You might get another idea by looking around your friend's room. Remember: it's not the gift, but the thought that counts! If you are giving something from your heart, I'm sure your friend will love it. Let me know what you end up buying. Good luck!
