

Sounds Good

Podcast 9

Tini talks to Todd about fashion in America, Japan and Vietnam. She has spent time in all three countries and thinks that young people dress very differently in each country. In which country do young people have a "fresh" style, according to Tini? What kind of accessories do people like to wear in Japan?

New York's Seventh Avenue is the most fashionable street in the city. It is also known as Fashion Avenue.

Listen again. Choose which statements go with each country that Tini talks about.

1 America _____

2 Japan _____

3 Vietnam _____

A I like wearing bright, comfortable clothes.

B I only wear black clothes. But I wear lots of funky accessories, too.

C I don't really think about what I wear. I'm too busy studying to think about fashion!

D My favorite colors are light pink and gray. And I love bracelets. I have a huge collection!

E Most days I just wear shorts and a T-shirt. My favorite T-shirt has blue and white stripes on it.

Do the clothes people choose to wear tell you something about them?

Fun Fact

Hanae Mori is a world-famous fashion designer from Japan. Her signature logo is the butterfly.

Many Vietnamese schoolgirls wear a traditional outfit called ao dai. It means "long dress".
