

Sounds Good

Podcast 47

Patricia talks to Todd about cyclones in her home country of Samoa. Where is the island of Samoa? What natural disasters do Samoans have to worry about besides cyclones? What do Samoans do during cyclone season? Where do most Samoans get their food?

Listen again. Which words do you hear? Circle the words that Patricia and Todd say in the Podcast.

- | | | |
|-------------------|-------------------|----------------|
| A iron | E tsunamis | I crazy |
| B metal | F volcano | J mad |
| C Atlantic | G shop | K roof |
| D Pacific | H store | L size |

Cyclones are sometimes called hurricanes or typhoons.

What do you think?

Fun Fact

In the southern hemisphere, cyclone winds blow in a “clockwise” circle. This means they turn in the direction that a clock moves. In the northern hemisphere, they blow in a “counter-clockwise” circle—the opposite direction.

What things would you do to prepare for a cyclone or other natural disaster?

The best time to visit Samoa and its beautiful beaches is in the dry season between May and October.

