

Create a reading passport

Levels 4-6

Teacher's notes

Asking students to fill in a reading passport as they read a new book is a fun way to encourage reading. It can also help motivate students by giving them clear and achievable goals.

Each book allows students to enter a different world. Once they have visited each place, they complete a new page in the passport and receive a stamp.

You could even make this a class competition to see who can fill in the passport pages the quickest.

Learning objective

- ★ GSE Speaking: Can read aloud a familiar short text.
- ★ GSE Writing: Can write simple sentences about someone's likes or dislikes.
- ★ GSE Writing: Can write two or three related sentences on a familiar topic.

Reading passport

My favorite part was _____

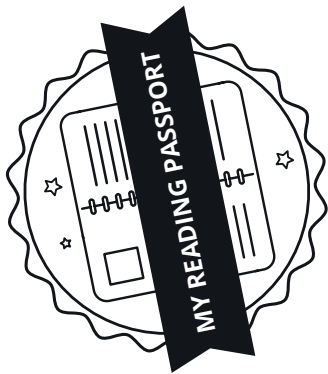

because _____

The story was about _____

The story made me feel _____

because _____

I learned these new words:

Reader: _____

Date: _____

Today I finished reading _____

I travelled to _____

I liked/did not like the book because _____

My favorite character was _____

because _____