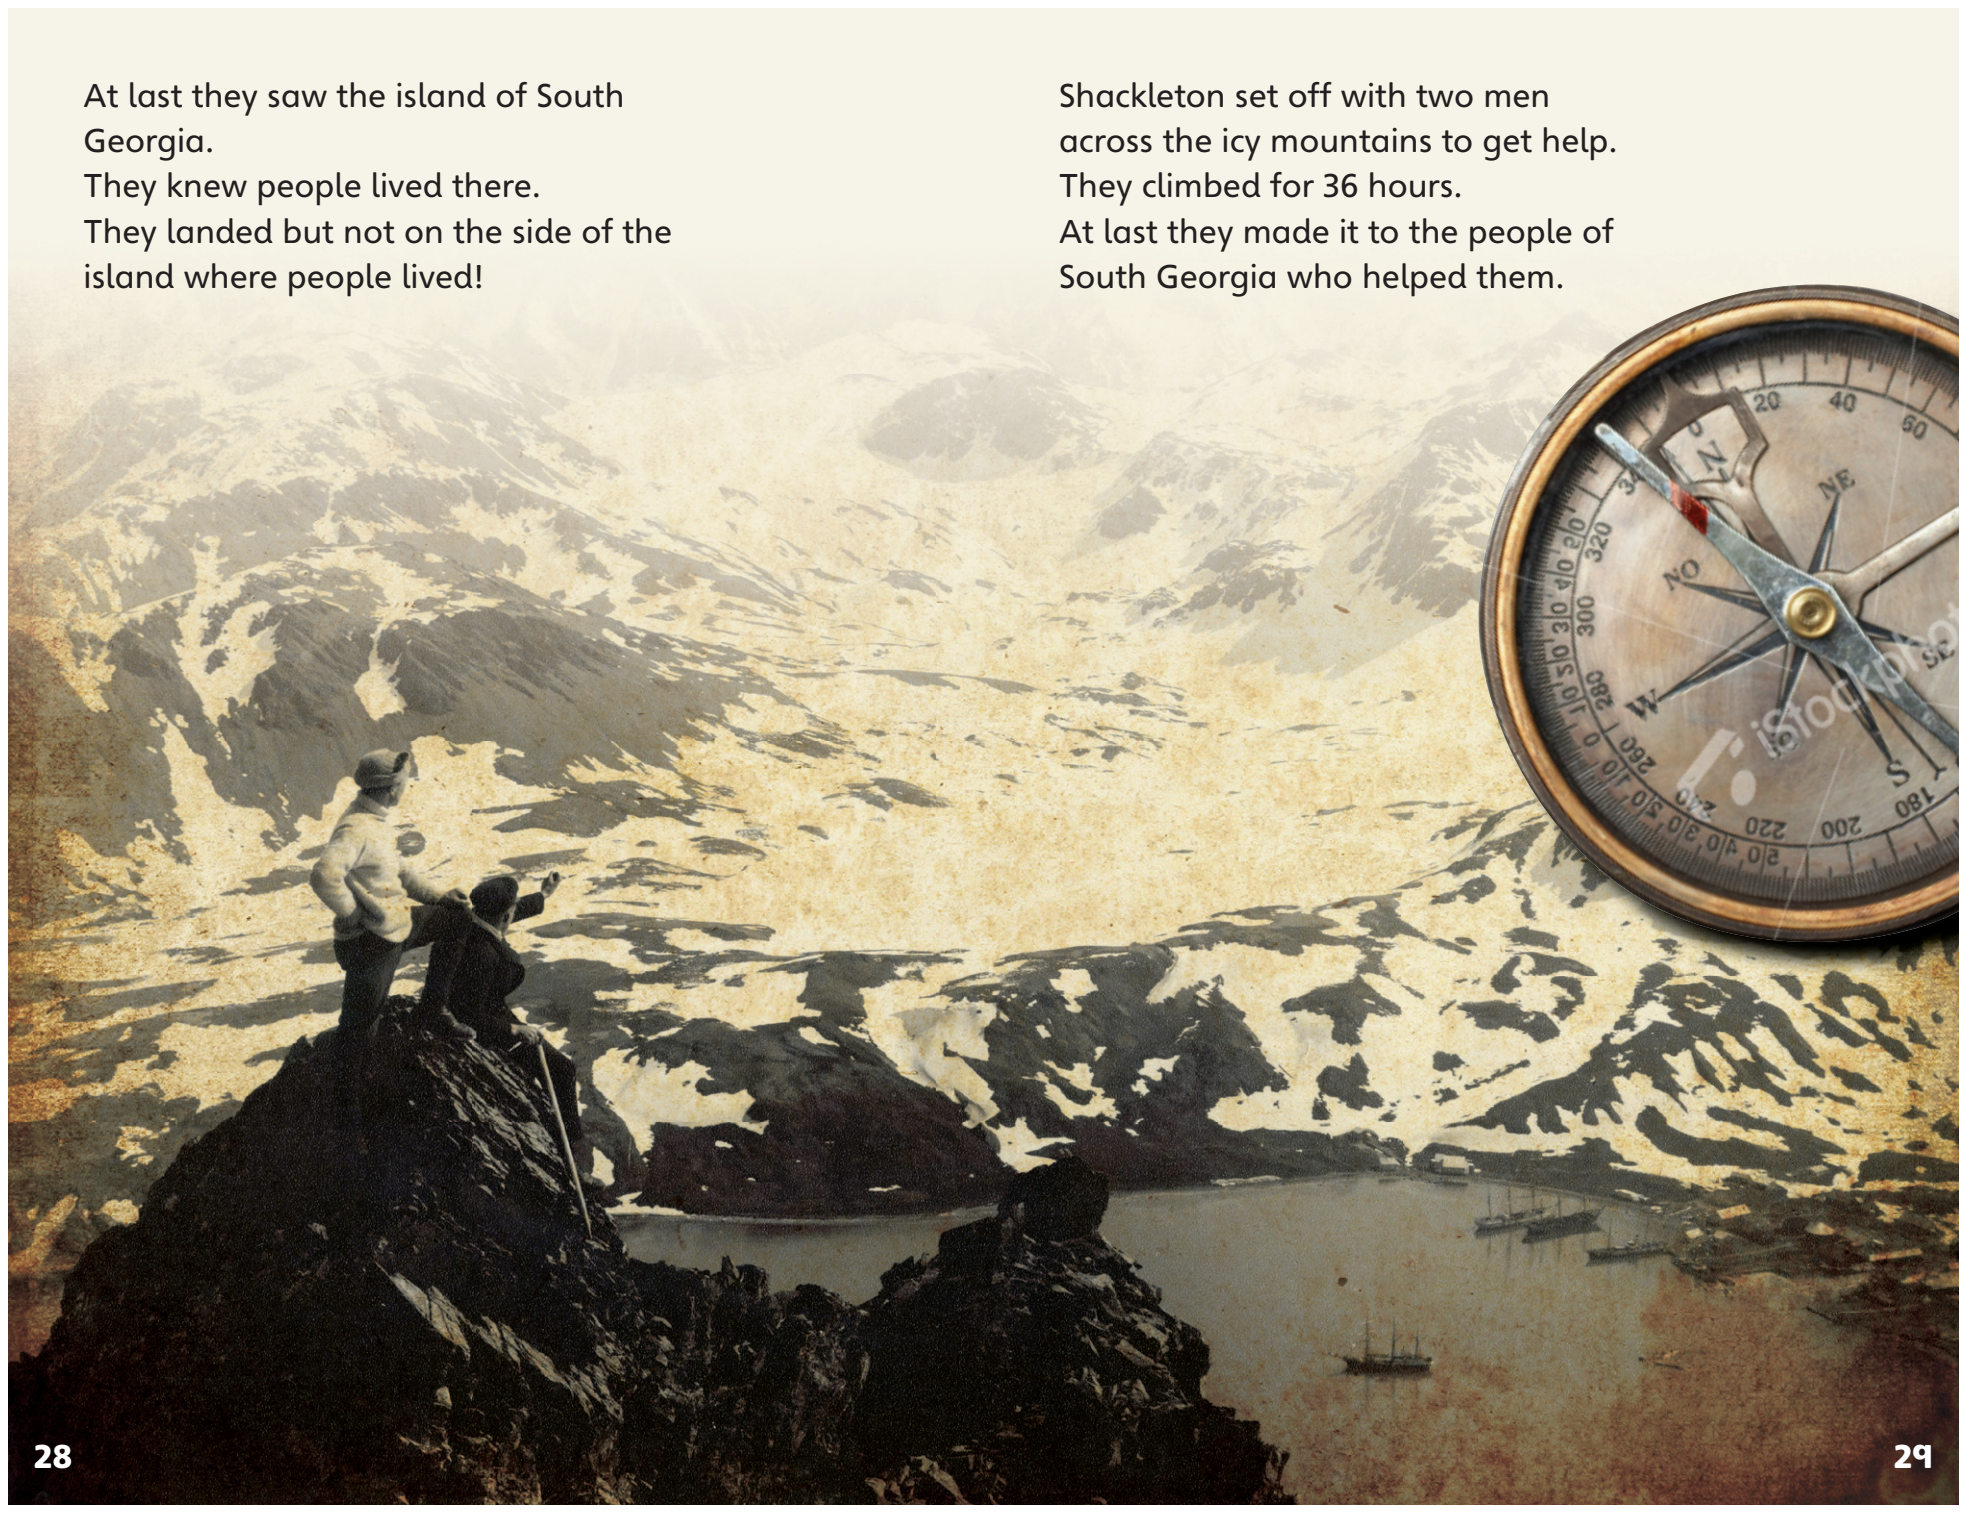
At last they saw the island of South Georgia.
They knew people lived there.
They landed but not on the side of the island where people lived!


Shackleton set off with two men across the icy mountains to get help.
They climbed for 36 hours.
At last they made it to the people of South Georgia who helped them.