Wild horses  Steve Curry, New York
Last summer we were staying in a hotel in Scotland. One evening, we went for a drive. At about 7 p.m. we were going along a very quiet road. I wasn't looking at the countryside, I was playing a video game. Suddenly, my dad stopped the car. Right in front of us were lots of wild horses. They were running straight at our car. As they were going past, I took this photo. It was amazing!

Swimming in the rain  Kerry Kane, London
We were sunbathing on a beach in Cornwall. I was eating an ice cream when suddenly it started to rain. My parents ran to a café but my sister Lara said, 'Let's go for a swim! We're wet anyway.' While we were swimming, I took this photo. The rain stopped and the sun came out. We felt great. The only problem was that our towels were really wet!

A double rainbow  Adam Clark, Dublin
I was staying with my uncle on his farm in Canada. One evening it wasn't raining, so I went for a walk. As I was walking, I noticed it was getting very dark. Then I saw two rainbows over the fields! It was beautiful. I took lots of photos. It started to rain when I was going home but I didn't care.

HOLIDAY REVIEWS

Destination: Brecon Outdoor Centre, Wales
Review by: Joe Queen, Norwich

★★★★ GETTING THERE
We went by coach to Wales. We had a lot of fun on the way but the trip took five hours and it was too hot. I was glad when we arrived at the campsite.

★★★★ ACCOMMODATION
It wasn’t easy to put up the tents but they were big, so there were no beds, so we had to put our sleeping bags on the ground.

★★★★ ACTIVITIES
We went kayaking on the river, windsurfing on a lake, mountain biking and hiking in the mountains. We were always doing something. It was brilliant!

★★★★ YOUR VERDICT
A great school trip, especially the activities. I really recommend it. I was sorry to leave.

Destination: Heraklion, Crete
Review by: Helen Green, Oxford

★★★★★★ GETTING THERE
We missed the bus, so we got a taxi to the train station. Then we travelled by train to London and took the underground to the airport. We boarded the plane on time but there was a delay before we took off. Although we flew directly to Crete, we landed an hour late. I was exhausted when we finally checked in.

★★★★★★ ACCOMMODATION
We stayed in a budget hotel but it was fantastic! Big swimming pool, excellent food and my room had a double bed. I’m not surprised the hotel was fully booked.

★★★★★★ ACTIVITIES
We went sightseeing every morning and visited lots of museums. In the afternoons I just put on my sunscreen and sunbathed by the pool!

★★★★★★ YOUR VERDICT
It was our first package holiday. I loved the hotel and Crete is a great place to visit but the journey was a nightmare.

On 1 January 2009, Graham Hughes from Liverpool, England, sailed across the River Plate from Argentina to Uruguay on a ferry. He was setting out on an incredible solo journey. He was going to visit every country in the world. And he was going to be the first person to do it without flying.

He was doing it to set a Guinness World Record and to collect money for the charity WaterAid. But he also wanted to show that the world isn't such a dangerous place.

Graham hoped to complete the trip in under a year. In the end it took him almost four years.

It started well. He visited all twelve countries in South America in only two weeks. But then in the Caribbean, he met his first big problem – islands! You can't travel overland to every country in the world, often there are no ferries between islands and Graham can't walk on water. He solved his problem by hitchhiking on other people’s boats.

From North America, he sailed to Iceland on a container ship. Europe was easy. He got a railway ticket which allowed him to travel everywhere in Europe by train. It only took him a few weeks to visit fifty countries. Then he arrived in Africa.

He was planning on just three months there. It took him almost three years! He had problems with transport and also with politics. For example, he had a valid passport, but he also needed a visa to enter Mauritania. Unfortunately, they weren’t selling visas at the border. So he travelled 1,250 miles by bus all the way back to the place where he knew that they could get a visa – Morocco. When he returned to Mauritania a week later, he couldn’t believe his eyes. They were selling visas at the border. And they were $5 cheaper than the visas in Morocco!

During his journey Graham was never seriously ill. And nobody stole anything particularly valuable from him. However, he was arrested twice. Once in Cape Verde, when the police thought he was transporting immigrants. And again in the Congo, for being a spy! On both occasions he spent six days in jail.

He had some bad times but many more good times. Above all, he learned how hospitable people can be. One time when he was travelling on a night bus in Iran, he saw an old woman who was talking on her phone. She handed it to him. It was the woman’s grandson. ‘My grandmother’s worried because the bus arrives very early,’ he explained in English. ‘She wants to invite you home to make you breakfast.’ Graham accepted the invitation.

Finally, after three years, ten months and twenty-one days Graham arrived in the 201st and final country on his odyssey. It was South Sudan, the newest state in the world, a country that didn’t even exist when he started his journey.
The world is your oyster

I’m Dominykas. I’m nineteen and I’m from Lithuania. I write about culture, food and, above all, travelling! The name of my blog comes from Shakespeare: I can do anything I want to, the world’s my oyster. It means ‘use all the opportunities that the world offers you’ – that’s my philosophy in life!

15th May. A wonderful trip to Wales.

My cousin Lukas recently invited me to the small seaside town where he studies – Aberystwyth in Wales. I flew to Birmingham. Lukas was waiting for me at the airport. From Birmingham, we caught a train to Aberystwyth. The train journey was slow but very scenic. It was raining when we arrived, so we went straight to the house that Lukas shares with five friends. Everyone was very welcoming.

The next day we explored Aberystwyth. We had a walk along a beach, I took some fantastic photos and we visited the castle, too. It was too cold to swim but some brave people were windsurfing! On the third day, we climbed Cader Idris – a big mountain north of the town. It was snowing when we got to the top but the view was spectacular. On the last day, we went for an enjoyable drive along the coast.

Like Lithuania, Wales is a small country but people are very open and friendly. For example, everyone smiles and says ‘hello’ when you pass them on the street – it made a really positive impression. Overall, I had a brilliant time and made some great new friends!

Exercise 3 the author mentions.

• Describe a problem that occurred during your visit and the way you solved it.
• Recommend one place that is especially interesting.
• Give and justify your opinion about the town.
• Describe the town you visited and when the trip took place.
• Talk about how you spent your time.
• Mention how you got there and what the journey was like.
• Sum up your overall experience.

Exercise 4

2. Read the blog post and answer the questions in pairs.
3. Read the blog post again and tick the things in the photo. Say why.
4. Replace the underlined adjectives in the sentences with synonyms.
5. How many days did he stay there?
6. Who is Lukas?

Luck

Randy woke up and checked the time. It was 6.05. No problem. His flight to Miami was at 7.45. However, then he realised the alarm clock wasn’t ticking. He reached for his phone. It was 6.50. He was late.

He thought fast. The airport was a twenty-minute drive from his apartment in Boston. He could still catch the plane.

Randy grabbed his bag and the car keys, ran down the stairs and got into his car. It was 6.58. He turned the key but the car didn’t start. He tried again. The battery was dead.

Suddenly, he saw a bus. It was the airport express! He jumped out of his car. A few seconds later he was sitting on the bus, a smile on his face. He was going to make it. He was going to see Kate, the girl he loved.

Ten minutes later the bus was stuck in a traffic jam. Randy checked his phone. 7.09! What could he do?

The subway! There was a direct line to the airport. He got off the bus, ran into the station and got on the train just as it was leaving the platform.

He got to the airport at 7.25. Fortunately, the security check was quick.

Unfortunately, the gate was a long way from the departure lounge. When he got there, he showed his boarding pass. The woman at the gate shook her head and pointed out of the window. A plane was moving down the runway. Randy watched sadly as his plane left for Miami without him.

Later, Randy was sitting at home, wondering why he was so unlucky. The door bell rang. He got up and walked slowly to the door. It was probably going to be more bad news. He opened the door and there was Kate. She was standing in the doorway, smiling. “Surprise!” she said.

We use the Past Simple to describe events that finished in the past, and it is not important how long they took: I watched TV in the evening.

We use the Past Continuous:
- to describe a background scene in a story: There was having breakfast at her hotel when she was sitting at the table and drinking coffee.
- to talk about an action that was in progress when another action took place, or at a particular time in the past: For the shorter action, we use the Past Simple: While he was climbing in the mountains, he broke his leg.
- to talk about two or more actions happening at the same time: While I was sunbathing, the children were building a sandcastle.
- when we want to stress that something lasted long, or too long: He was watching TV all evening – what a waste of time!

Spelling rules

For spelling rules of the -ing form of the verb, see page 172.

When, while, as
We use when, while or as with the Past Continuous to connect two actions happening at the same time: While/When/As we were driving along the coast, it started to rain. It started to rain while/when/as we were driving along the coast.

With the Past Simple clause, we can only use when or as: We were driving along the coast when/as it started to rain. When/As it started to rain, we were driving along the coast.

3D Defining relative clauses

Defining relative clauses give essential information about a person, thing or place. In defining relative clauses, we use the following relative pronouns:
- which and that to talk about things and places: Is this the campsite which/that you stayed at last year?
- who and that to talk about people: This is the teacher who/that teaches my class.
- where to talk about places, if the next word is a noun or a pronoun: We’re visiting the village where my grandma lived for twenty years.
- whose to talk about possessions: I met a girl whose parents own a guesthouse by the sea.

Relative pronouns who, which and that usually come immediately after the noun they refer to.

We can omit the relative pronouns who, which and that, but only if the next phrase is a noun phrase (= a noun, a personal pronoun, or a whole phrase built around them): We are driving by the houses (which/that) my grandma has described.

A In high school he worked as a presenter on the school radio because he had a good voice. While at college, he signed up for a drama course and found he got interested in acting. However, he wasn’t a very strong student and quit university before graduation. He moved to Los Angeles to look for a job on the radio, but couldn’t find one. Instead, he got small roles in film productions. Although he was once told that he would probably never be a successful actor, he continued to go to auditions. Seven years after his first acting job, he got a big role in a hit film and became a Hollywood star.

B She wrote her first story when she was only six years old. Her parents wanted her to study French, so she chose this subject at university, even though deep down she wanted to study English. After graduation, she had a few different jobs in London, but still had an ambition to write books. One day during a long train journey, she had an idea that would change her life: she decided to write a book for children. However, it took her a few years to finish the book. The first twelve publishers that read the story didn’t like it, but finally she found one that decided to publish it. Seven years later, she became the first woman to make a million pounds from writing books.

C As a child, he had original and unusual ideas and was interested in electronics. He went to college to study Law, but was not really sure what he wanted to do. Soon, he quit and instead began attending different courses he found interesting, such as Art and Calligraphy. When he was just twenty, together with a friend he built his first computer in his family’s garage. They started a new company, which became quite successful. However, success did not last long and after some time he lost his job as the director of the company. He was a bit upset to begin with, but after some time he decided to continue doing what he loved and opened two new technology companies. These companies have later become one of the best known and successful businesses in the world.

Universities in Britain

1 Oxford University is a historic university, the oldest in the English-speaking world. Students live in colleges – each college has its own dining room, library and student societies.

2 Manchester University, a typical 'city university,' not far from Manchester city centre.

3 Sussex University, an example of a modern 'campus university'. The university is in the countryside, not far from Brighton.

4 A typical study bedroom in a hall of residence.

In 1960, there were about twenty-five universities in Britain and only about five percent of eighteen-year-olds went to university. Today the situation is very different – there are more than a hundred universities and more than thirty percent of eighteen-year-olds get a place at university.

Young people usually start choosing their university and the subject they want to study at the start of the last year of secondary school. Most universities have open days for pupils, where they can speak to teachers and staff and decide if the university is the right place for them. Many foreign students also decide to study in Britain – about twenty percent of students in the UK are from abroad. Some universities ask candidates to come for an interview or an exam. A-level exam results are important too because you can lose your place at university if your results are bad.

Students can choose from hundreds of university courses. In 2014, the most popular courses were Medicine, Law, Psychology, Art/Design and Computer Science. There are also many different types of university. Perhaps the most famous are the ‘historic’ ones, which began in the Middle Ages, such as Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh. ‘City universities’ are usually in the centre of large towns and cities – examples are Birmingham, Bristol, Manchester and the colleges of the University of London. There are also newer ‘campus universities,’ such as Sussex, Kent and Warwick, where all the buildings are together, usually in the countryside. Some universities are small and friendly; others have tens of thousands of students. And of course, some universities have a better reputation than others. Choosing the university that is right for you is very important. For this reason, most students in Britain choose to study far from their hometown (only twenty-two percent of students live with their parents).

Students in the first year of university typically live in university accommodation called halls of residence. Students have to share a kitchen and bathroom with three to five other students, but every student has a ‘study bedroom’ where he/she can study or sleep. In the second and third year, it’s popular to rent a flat or house with friends. For some people, this is one of the best things about being a student!

Studying at university is very different to learning at school. Lectures are the most common type of teaching – sometimes there are more than a hundred students in the room at one time. But students also spend a lot of time doing private study – reading and making notes in the library or at home. Most students go to university for three or four years to get a Bachelor’s degree. About ten percent of students drop out (they leave university without finishing their course).

Studying in Britain is very expensive these days. Students have to pay the university for their teaching each year (usually more than £9,000 a year). You also have to add to this the cost of living (about £12,000 a year). It’s not surprising that many students work part-time during the holidays, and most graduates (students with a degree) have large debts.

WATCH OUT!
The informal words and phrases from Exercise 5 are sometimes used in spoken and informal written English.
- ‘Ain’t is a short form of ‘is not’/‘are not,’ and ‘gonna’ of ‘going to.’ Even though they’re in fact ungrammatical, they’re common in some dialects and song lyrics.
- In spoken conversations, English speakers sometimes tend to omit or change some sounds e.g. change the -ng ending with an -n. When we want to show these changes in written English, we use an apostrophe to mark that some letters are missing.

FROM PAGE TO LIFE
Forrest Gump was made into a film in 1994 and won six Oscars, including best actor (Tom Hanks), best picture, and best director. Several catchphrases from the movie have become widely used, most notably: ‘Life is like a box of chocolates. You never know what you’re gonna get.’ A chain of seafood restaurants have used the name of a fictional company in the film, the Bubba Gump Shrimp Co. Singer Frank Ocean released a song called ‘Forrest Gump’ and there have been many parodies of the movie in series such as The Simpsons and Family Guy.

GLOSSARY
chase – quickly follow someone in order to catch them discharged – annoyed and not satisfied peculiar – strange, unfamiliar quarterback – the player in American football who receives the ball and throws or gives it to other players to run with it.

The others were running after me too.
The football was not goin' exactly how Coach Fellers wanted. He seemed displeased a lot an' was always shoutin' at people. He shouted at me too. Then one day a event happen that changed everything. In the cafeteria, I started to notice this other guy was there a lot too, an' he starts makin' wisecracks 'bout me. Sayin' things like 'How's Dumbo?'. And this continued for a week or two, an' I was sayin' nothin', but finally I says – I can't believe I said it even now – but I says, 'I ain't no Dumbo,' an' the guy jus' looked at me an' starts laughin'. An' he takes a carton of milk an' pours it in my lap an' I jump up an' run out 'cause I was scared.

A day or so later, that guy come up to me in the hall an' says he's gonna 'get' me. Later that afternoon, when I was leaving to go to the gym, there he is, with a bunch of his friends. I tried to go the other way, but he starts pushin' me. An' then he hit me in the stomach. It didn't hurt so much, but I was startin' to cry and I turned an' begun to run, an' heard him behind me an' the others was runnin' after me too. I jus' run as fast as I could toward the gym, across the practice football field an' suddenly I seen Coach Fellers watchin' me. The guys who was chasin' me stop and go away, an' Coach Fellers, looks at me with a peculiar look on his face. That afternoon at the football practice, he puts everybody in two teams an' tells the quarterback to give me the ball. When I get the ball, I'm posed to run, and run, all the way to the goal line. When they all start chasin' me, I run fast as I can. We'd run a lot of races before, to see how fast we could run, but I get a lot faster when I'm bein' chased. I guess anybody would. Anyway, I become a lot more popular after that, an' the other guys on the team started bein' nice to me. We had our first game an' I was scared to death, but they gave me the ball an' I run with the ball over the goal line two or three times an' people was even kinder to me after that. That high school certainly began to change things in my life. It even got to where I liked to run with the football.
