3 do / what / need / you _____

4 you / a healthy recipe / do / for / pancakes / have _____

Extract from Students' Book recording CD•1.47 MP3•47

Part 2

KG: For the first recipe you just need eggs, potatoes, and olive oil. It's called a Spanish omelet.

P: How do you make it?

KG: There are many different ways. But this is how you make a healthy Spanish omelet. First, slice four potatoes. Then boil the potatoes in some water. After that, mix some eggs together.

P: OK, so you mix the eggs. A _____?

KG: You need six eggs for four people. Mix the eggs and the potatoes. Then put some olive oil into a pan. Fry the omelet on both sides. And that's it – your Spanish omelet is ready! Eat it with some salad for a really healthy meal.

Part 3

P: And what about dessert, Kate? My favorite dessert is pancakes. B _____?

KG: Yes, I have a very easy recipe for fruit pancakes.

P: Cool. C _____?

KG: Some fruit, for example some bananas and strawberries. Then you need one cup of flour, one cup of milk, and one egg. Plus some oil.

P: OK, so bananas, strawberries, flour, milk, an egg, and oil. What do you do?

KG: First you chop the fruit and then you make the pancakes.

P: D _____?

KG: You mix the flour, milk, and the egg together. Then you put some oil into a pan. When it is hot, you put some of the mixture into the pan and make a pancake. You fry it on both sides. Take it out and put the fruit on top.

2.4 Reading

Unusual restaurants • food adjectives

Glossary

grow (v) = to make plants develop and produce fruit or flowers district (n) = an area of a town chat (v) = talk in a friendly, informal way customer (n) = someone who buys goods or services from a store, restaurant, etc.

pumpkin (n) = a large, orange vegetable that is popular at Halloween drum (n) = a musical instrument played by hitting it with your hand or a stick

Eat out for less

‘How much is it?’ In some restaurants, the answer is: ‘What you want to pay.’ Here are some of the ‘Pay-what-you-want’ restaurants around the world.

A Der Wiener Deewan – Vienna, Austria

This is a Pakistani restaurant but it is in Vienna. I always go down the stairs to a small, cozy room but the restaurant is on three floors altogether. There are no menus and waiters don't come to ask you what you want – the food is in large, hot containers on a table and the menu changes every few hours, but always with three vegetarian and two meat options. The meal then costs what you want to pay. The traditional Pakistani food is delicious but, be careful, some of it is very spicy! Try the Alu Methi Gajar – spicy but sweet vegetables – and, of course, some Pakistani rice. The restaurant isn't only a ‘Pay-what-you-want’ restaurant but also a ‘Play-what-you-want’ restaurant. In the evenings, you can take a djembe, an African drum, and play music with others. It's a really cool place to spend some time.

B Soul Kitchen – Red Bank, New Jersey, USA

Soul Kitchen is a great place to go for lunch. The menu has choices of appetizers – my favorite is the mixed green salad – main course – fish, meat or vegetarian – and dessert. But it doesn't have any prices. That's because you can pay what you want. The restaurant asks for $10 or more but people who don't have $10 can eat there and work for an hour to pay for their meal. The food is healthy and local. The restaurant even has a garden and grows a lot of the vegetables that they use in their meals.

C Lentil As Anything – Melbourne, Australia

This is a vegetarian restaurant in Australia's second city. In fact, there are four Lentil As Anything restaurants in the city. Nine hundred people eat in the restaurant in the Abbotsford district of the city every day. The restaurants are open all day and you can eat breakfast, lunch, and dinner there. They are friendly places where you can chat to other customers and listen to good music. When you leave, you put some money in a box. The food is healthy and delicious. They don't serve meat but you can find great food with other ingredients like pumpkin. Their pumpkin curry is amazing.

1 Read the three reviews and decide which restaurant A–C is best for people 1–4. One person doesn't have a suitable restaurant.

- 1 'I love hot food from China and India. I'd like to try food from a different country in Asia.' ☐
- 2 'I don't eat meat. I think it is wrong to kill animals for food. I don't even like seeing other people eat meat.' ☐
- 3 'I love traditional American breakfasts with pancakes, bacon, and fried eggs.' ☐
- 4 'I don't have a job. I have a lot of time in the middle of the day but don't have money for food.' ☐

2 Read the reviews again. Match sentences 1–9 to the restaurants. Write DWD (Der Wiener Deewan), SK (Soul Kitchen), or LAA (Lentil As Anything).

- 1 They grow some of the food they serve.
- 2 The recipes are from a different country.
- 3 You can pay for your food or work for it.
- 4 There are four restaurants with the same name.
- 5 You can play music here.
- 6 You can eat here at any time of the day.
- 7 You get a three-course meal here.
- 8 You put the food you want on your plate.
- 9 You can't eat meat here.

3 Look at the underlined verbs + prepositions in the reviews. Then complete blanks 1–6 with the verbs from the box.

[chat eat go (x2) pay play listen]

- 0 You can eat in a coffee shop or restaurant.
- 1 You can _____ for your meal with cash or a credit card.
- 2 People _____ to music on MP3 players and cell phones.
- 3 There is a coffee shop and a restaurant in the building. You _____ up some stairs to the coffee shop and down some other stairs to the restaurant.
- 4 I often _____ with my friends on my computer. We use Skype.
- 5 After school, I sometimes _____ for a pizza or a hot dog with my friends.
- 6 My brother is in a band and sometimes he lets me _____ the guitar with them.
- 4 Complete the sentences with the correct verbs and prepositions from Exercise 3. Use the correct forms of the verbs.
