

My experience during COVID-19: Studying from home

Patrycja

BTEC Higher National Business Management student.

What are your top three tips for other learners in your position?

Always be prepared for online classes, you will have to participate

Stay focused by keeping your long term goals in mind

Take notes during online classes

How has COVID-19 changed the way you work?

My tutors have used many innovative ways of teaching throughout lockdown. Our college has created a support package of live video classes and video presentations, where we have been able to debate case studies with our peers. These have been invaluable in continuing my studies. In addition, the college's online portal and an open email dialogue between students and tutors has been very useful to still gain the knowledge content of my course. I am so grateful that I can continue studying despite COVID.

What things have you been doing to ensure you're still learning at home?

I have been able to use online textbooks and access specific reading lists on the HN Global platform. HN Global has been very effective in helping prepare for live video lessons. I have had to plan ahead during COVID to ensure I have childcare arrangements when I have scheduled tuition. Organisation has been key!

To find out more about HN Global, please visit hnglobal.highternationals.com