Ever feel like what you just learned in class isn't what's on the homework?

Are your essays coming back with the same corrections from your professor every time?

Have you ever asked a question, received an answer, but you still don't get it?

The help you need is here -- when, where, and how you need it -- with Smarthinking.

At no additional cost to you, your institution has given you access to Smarthinking: a live, on-demand tutoring service.

Smarthinking tutors are experts in their field and use a personalized approach to help you learn at your own pace.

Our tutors are standing by to assist you in over 25 subjects, up to 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. That's right: we work around your schedule.

With Smarthinking, you can connect with a tutor using our interactive whiteboard for a live drop-in session...

schedule an appointment in advance... ask an offline question...

...or submit your writing for review. If needed, you can even select a writing specialist.

Responses are usually received in less than 24 hours, and you're notified by email and text message once your review is posted.
