Your virtual toolbox

Just about every task and activity you carry out in the classroom on a daily basis has a digital equivalent. It's important to understand that the learning itself doesn't change, but the delivery method does. The chart below shows specific ways that teaching and learning can transfer to an online environment. Use it to help pick the most effective tools for your course.

Face-to-face classroom	Online classroom
Lectures	<ul> <li>Pre-recorded presentations with screen recording software and/or webcam</li> <li>Live sessions using video software like Zoom, Cisco WebEx®, CollaborateVideo, etc.</li> <li>Web pages, shared documents &amp; other media</li> </ul>
Learning resources & handouts	<ul> <li>YouTube™, Vimeo®, Khan Academy &amp; other third-party links</li> <li>Files uploaded and shared via LMS, email, or shared drive</li> </ul>
Teacher-to-student communication	<ul> <li>Email or chat</li> <li>Instructor announcements</li> <li>Discussion, assignment &amp; quiz feedback</li> </ul>
Student-to-student communication	<ul> <li>Email or chat</li> <li>Online discussion boards</li> <li>Discussions using chat or video software</li> </ul>
Group work	<ul> <li>Offline group projects using collaborative documents</li> <li>Online discussion boards</li> <li>Group work using chat or video software</li> </ul>
Office hours	<ul> <li>Open office hours using chat or video software</li> <li>One-on-one student meetings using chat or video software</li> </ul>
Assignments & assessments	<ul> <li>Assignment submissions via email or LMS</li> <li>Online asynchronous discussions</li> <li>LMS or document-based quizzes</li> <li>Graded and non-graded online activities</li> </ul>
Student presentations	<ul><li>Live presentation using video software</li><li>Recorded presentation submissions</li></ul>
Scheduling	<ul><li>Shared calendar applications</li><li>Collaborative sign-up document</li></ul>

Explore the complete guide for moving your course online at go.pearson.com/OnlineCourseToolkit

For more tips and resources for working and learning online, visit pearson.com

