

>> My name is Laney and I am a student at the University of Louisville in Kentucky. I'm studying communications with minors in marketing and creative writing. And I was actually in Georgia that I got the news that U of L was going to be moving online.

^M00:00:13

So, I drove all the way back from Georgia to Louisville, and I gathered up all of my things, and then I went and drove another six hours home to Illinois.

^M00:00:21

I really feel for all of the out of state students right now, because it can be really hard to have to move away from the place that you've come to call home and all of the close friends that you have there.