[Music]

^M00:00:01

>> Our world is always changing. Every day can bring a new challenge. It's you the educators who keep us moving forward regardless of how or where you teach, we're here to support you because no matter what obstacles we face, your mission will always be providing all students with an equal opportunity to continue learning, build lifelong skills, and create hope. We see your strength and patience as you support your students, their families, and our communities while taking care of your own. Let us help you make it a little easier.

^E00:00:42