

Introducing Pearson Connexus – Video

---

When it comes to learning, there's no one ideal way to get from a to b.

Every learner has different needs, and those needs keep on changing.

And today, with the unprecedented choices that blended and online learning are opening up, sometimes it can be hard to know which path best suits each student.

Meanwhile, while your learners' needs are growing, your resources aren't.

Pearson Connexus is a state-of-the-art learning solution that's comprehensive, interactive, and customizable.

More than just tech and content, it's about meeting your students and teachers where they are and charting a course for each of them from there.

So, wherever your school or district is at in the journey toward personalizing learning, you can hand-pick from its huge range of content and services to tailor an integrated and affordable learning environment that's ready to meet each student where they are and grow with them.

Created for all learners in grades K through 12, Pearson Connexus means you can give students more opportunities than ever before, and with options of different course levels and learning pathways, and instructional services, like on-demand tutoring, they can really take control, learn their way, and be more successful both in school and beyond.

Pearson Connexus diverse ongoing services, like planning and tech support, program management guidance, and professional development, makes your teachers have all the help they need, can better target their classroom interaction, and keep inspired and growing too.

And for administrators, Pearson Connexus offers help, in figuring out what services will best match your needs, then rolling out and managing each custom learning environment.

So, our experts become your responsive, trusted partners, in bringing your vision for next-level learning to life.

Moving you from where you are to where you want to be.

Your way.

Pearson Connexus for where you are and where you are going.
