

>> So, all of my classes will be conducted online either through Zoom or prerecorded lectures. One of my classes, however, is an organic chemistry lab, and I'm very thankful that it wasn't canceled, but now all of our labs will be conducted online somehow. So, we'll see how that goes. My undergraduate research has been affected as I am now not allowed to go into lab. It's a little concerning since I work with animals, but it's okay. As with all things, our work has been adjusted to be completed remotely.
