

This is a transcript of the video content originally published at

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=2gOpzEs5H8o>

Experience Pearson Connexus

Teacher view

“The world is but a canvas to the imagination.”

– Henry David Thoreau

Teacher view

Video shows screens of the Pearson Connexus product, along with the following steps:

Teachers have their own way of doing things. Pearson Connexus gives them the tools to make it easy to do the thing they love most — TEACH!

On screen, the teacher’s course list is displayed in the product interface.

Teachers can view their courses and drill down to see class progress and performance

The cursor moves to select the Gradebook from one of the courses. A list of students is displayed.

And look at individual student performance on a variety of metrics including assessments

The cursor moves to select an assignment grade for one of the students. The next screen shows details of the student’s performance. The teacher clicks into a quiz to see how the student responded to each question. One click further lets the teacher provide feedback at the question-level.

And craft to individual student needs, like giving assessment retries

The teacher uses the text feedback box to ask the student to retake the assessment. The cursor selects “Allow Retry”.

If a teacher feels a class needs additional work they can add it right into the course.

The cursor moves to select the Edit button for a course. The teacher edits an individual assignment, adding Activity Instructions via text comment.

Or they can create their very own lesson from scratch using a variety of tools including flashcards

The teacher clicks “Add Activity” from the course menu and scrolls through a list of flashcards to create a new flashcard with custom text and images.

Teachers can also assign activities based on differentiated instruction to students that they can create

The cursor moves to the “Quick Lists” menu and selects a custom-defined list of students.

Pearson Connexus also helps teachers quickly identify what assignments need to be graded

On the “Courses” page, the teacher selects “Needs Grading” from the top menu. The teacher clicks into a pending assignment to provide feedback.

And gives teachers a variety of ways to provide feedback, including typed, audio, and even video

The Score page for an individual student shows examples of text and video feedback.

But teachers can also communicate to individual students, groups, or entire classes through Webmail, our closed and secure email system

The screen shows an email interface in which the teacher sends instructions to the whole class.

Or send an announcement for selected classes to see

The cursor moves to select “Announcements” from the main menu. The teacher selects the “New Announcement” button and writes a message to just the selected class in a text box.

And through LiveLesson, our virtual classroom tool

The screen shows the LiveLesson environment, including a video widget with the teacher speaking, a text chat box, a Q&A box, and a PowerPoint presentation.

Pearson Connexus gives teachers the tools you need to ensure student success in online learning.

Copyright © 2021 Pearson Education Inc. All Rights Reserved.