

Contents

Introduction	xiii
Why did we write this book?	xiii
What is today's business world really like?	xiii
How this book will help you to achieve the three goals of your business degree	xvii
How your business degree is structured	xx

Goal 1

Become a subject expert and higher order thinker 1

1 Acquire knowledge in business disciplines	3
Why you should read this chapter	3
1.1 What is a subject discipline?	4
1.2 The terminology of disciplines: facts, concepts, frameworks, processes and theories	5
1.3 Facts and what they are	6
1.3.1 Facts fit in to concepts	7
1.4 What is a concept?	7
1.4.1 How concepts work in academic disciplines	9
1.4.2 How to work with concepts: from 'the consumer' to 'celebrity endorsement' in marketing	11
1.4.3 Two further points about concepts	13
1.5 What is a framework?	14
1.5.1 Applying frameworks in the disciplines	15
1.6 What are processes in a discipline?	17
1.7 What is a theory and what is the place of theory in disciplines?	17
1.8 The falsifiability of theories	19
1.8.1 Theories and the world: a final thought	20

2	Introduction to higher order thinking	21
	Why you should read this chapter	21
2.1	What is higher order thinking?	22
2.2	Higher order thinking in personal and professional life	24
2.3	A toolkit for higher order thinking: ARE	25
2.4	The Analysis stage	27
2.4.1	Analysing the topic	28
2.4.2	What you need to find out	30
2.4.3	The main ideas of your topic	31
2.5	The Research stage	32
2.5.1	Finding the information you need	32
2.5.2	Assessing the information you have found	33
2.5.3	Organising your research as you collect it	38
2.6	The Evaluation stage	38
2.6.1	Evaluation to synthesise ideas and evidence	40
2.6.2	Evaluation to select your final evidence	42
2.6.3	Self-assess how well you have carried out the ARE process	45
2.7	The ARE process and your assignments	46
3	Higher order thinking in practice	48
	Why you should read this chapter	48
3.1	The example topic: celebrity endorsement	49
3.2	Working with your topic: the Analysis stage	49
3.2.1	Three approaches to the topic	49
3.3	Investigating the topic: the Research stage	52
3.4	Bringing it all together: the Evaluation stage	56
3.4.1	Synthesising and selecting	57
3.4.2	Presenting your response to the topic	58

Goal 2

Become an effective professional communicator 61

4	Become a professional communicator	67
	Why you should read this chapter	67
4.1	The key features of professional writing	68
4.2	Feature 1: Logical structure	68
4.3	Feature 2: Analytical writing	69
4.4	Feature 3: Objectivity and tone	71
	4.4.1 Objectivity	72
	4.4.2 Appropriate tone	72
4.5	Feature 4: Evidence that is properly acknowledged and referenced	75
	4.5.1 Why you must acknowledge and reference evidence: academic and professional integrity	76
	4.5.2 How to reference (acknowledge sources)	78
4.6	Feature 5: Evidence that is integrated into your writing	86
	4.6.1 Using reporting verbs to convey exact meaning	86
	4.6.2 Using figures, tables and graphs	86
4.7	Professional standards in writing: grammar, punctuation and spelling	89
	4.7.1 Basic sentences	90
	4.7.2 Complex sentences	90
	4.7.3 Subject–verb agreement	91
	4.7.4 Use of fewer and less	93
	4.7.5 Tense	93
	4.7.6 Use of articles	94
	4.7.7 Punctuation	95
	4.7.8 Commas, colons and semi-colons	95
	4.7.9 Common spelling errors	97
	4.7.10 Use of verb tense (present, past)	97
4.8	Professional presentation of documents	98

5 Report writing	99
Why you should read this chapter	99
5.1 What is a business report?	100
5.2 How is a business report structured?	100
5.2.1 Report structure applied to the celebrity endorsement topic	102
5.3 How to write and present the components of a business report	104
5.4 How to write an executive summary	104
5.5 How to construct a table of contents	105
5.6 How to write a report introduction	106
5.7 How to present your research and analysis in the discussion section of a report	107
5.8 How to write a report conclusion	108
5.9 How to write recommendations	110
5.10 How to construct a list of references	111
5.11 Advice on the inclusion of appendixes	112
5.12 How to write a business brief	114
6 Other forms of business writing	118
Why you should read this chapter	118
6.1 Introduction to the chapter	119
6.2 The structure and composition of an essay	119
6.2.1 Introduction	120
6.2.2 Main body	122
6.2.3 Paragraph structure	123
6.2.4 Conclusion	124
6.3 The case study: how to respond to it and structure your answer	127
6.4 Reflective writing: what it is and how to do it	130
6.5 Annotated bibliography: how to prepare and present it	132
6.6 Literature review: how to prepare and structure it	134
6.6.1 How to refer to literature	139

7	Oral communication	140
	Why you should read this chapter	140
7.1	The 3Cs of oral presentation: Connection, Communication, Confidence	141
7.1.1	Why are these 3 skills the key ones?	141
7.2	The first 'C' of oral presentation: Connection	143
7.3	The second 'C' of oral presentation: Communication	145
7.4	The third 'C' of oral presentation: Confidence	152
7.5	Practice, practice, practice	152
7.6	Giving the presentation	156
7.6.1	Taking questions	157
7.7	Assessing your performance	157
7.8	Creating effective PowerPoint presentations	158

Goal 3

Become an effective worker in a globalised world 161

8	Working effectively—in a team and on your own	163
	Why you should read this chapter	163
8.1	Introduction to teamwork	164
8.2	Working in teams: why employers want graduates with teamwork skills	164
8.3	What is a professional team?	165
8.4	Some misunderstandings about teamwork in your degree	168
8.5	Team formation	168
8.6	Teamwork and diversity	170
8.6.1	Celebrate diversity in your teamwork	172
8.7	Keys to successful teamwork and teamwork experiences	173
8.7.1	Communicate, communicate, communicate!	173

8.7.2	Product: task, sub-tasks and project stages and timing	174
8.7.3	Process: teamwork roles needed for a team to operate effectively	175
8.7.4	Process: agreements for working together	176
8.8	Process: understanding the evolutionary stages of teams	177
8.9	Dealing with conflict situations in teams	179
8.10	Taking responsibility for your own learning: the skills of self-reflection and self-efficacy	185
8.10.1	Teamwork reflection and review	186
8.10.2	Individual self-reflection and review	187
8.10.3	Self-reflection and self-efficacy	192
9	Professional and ethical conduct in business	194
	Why you should read this chapter	194
9.1	What is a good professional?	195
9.2	How Professional Codes of Conduct help you to be a good professional	200
9.2.1	The personal fall-out for you of a moral dilemma	201
9.2.2	The moral and social rationale for Professional Codes of Conduct	203
9.3	Ethical reasoning: a difficult situation in professional life	205
9.4	Boundaries of a Professional Code of Conduct: the area of personal ethics	207
9.5	Links between business and ethical theories	210
10	The contemporary business world: intercultural and international perspectives	213
	Why you should read this chapter	213
10.1	Diversity in the company workforce	214
10.2	Diversity in today's business world	217
10.3	What is culture and how is it manifested?	218

10.4 Working effectively in multicultural settings: acquiring knowledge, skills and experience	221
10.4.1 The concept of cultural difference	222
10.4.2 Knowledge of other cultures: research and theory	222
10.4.3 Gaining knowledge of other cultures in your degree program	223
10.4.4 Gaining knowledge and skills in other cultures: you and your fellow students	224
10.4.5 Gaining knowledge of other cultures: have some fun!	225
10.5 The message of this book	226
Index	227