

The alley cats saw a bin
by the butcher's shop.
"Food," they howled . . .

and they scratched on the bin with their alley cat paws.
Scratch, scratch, scratch went their alley cat claws!

There was such a commotion
and a hullabaloo
that the people
in the street shouted,
"Shoo, cats, shoo!"

