

Clever Computers

Ian Ryan

Computers are used for many tasks—for writing letters, playing games and for communicating with people from all over the world on the Internet. People even send pictures to friends using the Internet.

A realistic computer game.

..... Computers have become very powerful in a very short time. Today, people can play the newest action games that are very life-like. They look so real because the chips in the computer are very powerful.

Now, computers can do things that people would have thought impossible a few years ago.