In my opinion, computers should never replace teachers.

Teachers are kinder than computers. They know about our lives and care about us. When teachers are excited about a lesson, it makes learning fun. Have you ever seen an excited computer?

Teachers can make the whole class work in groups — computers can't do that. Plus, if a kid was fooling around, a computer wouldn't be able to stop it! Computers always have problems and break down. A lot of time is wasted waiting for them to be fixed.
