The Rock House

The rock house would be very very tall and narrow.

The outside would be made of grey rock. There would be 50 small windows and a large rock door covered in seashells. Inside the house there would be a long, winding staircase with 200 stairs from the bottom floor to the top. The rock house would be different because of the interesting ways to get in and out. There would be a cable car if you were too tired to use the stairs, and bungee ropes for bungee jumping from the roof.
