

“When I grow up,” said Charlie, “I’m going to be a butterfly.”

“People don’t grow up to be butterflies, Charlie,” said Kim. “People grow up to be people.”

“Not if they get some help,” said Charlie.

“What sort of help?” asked Kim.

“Butterflies come out of cocoons, don’t they?”
asked Charlie.

“Yes.”

“Then if you help me make a cocoon, I could use it to become a butterfly,” explained Charlie.

“It’s not that simple,” said Kim.

