

Come on, Steven, keep up!

Man, it is an awesome day!

My face and armpits are dripping with all this 'awesome'.

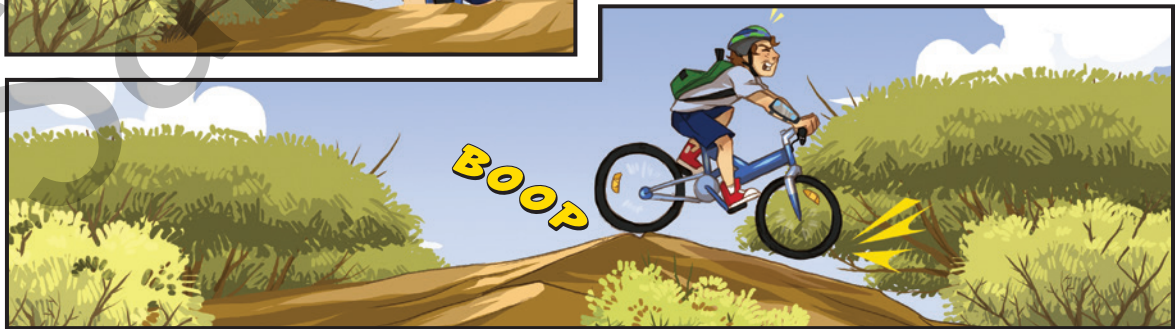

C'mon, Steven! You can spend all day reading textbooks, but 20 minutes on a bike and you want to stop?!

Textbooks don't make me sweat ...
... well, unless they are really interesting! I should have stayed to help Amelia with her homework.

There's a little clearing over this hill. We can stop for lunch there.

BOOP

Ah! Sweet water from Mother Earth, how I love thee!

You can't even drink water without sounding nerdy ... do you know that?

Huh, the grass feels almost like straw.

Well, it's been really hot for ages with no rain.

What is that?!

A device I created to water my plants. It creates a small rain cloud.

This little guy looked thirsty!

Dude, just use a hose like everybody else!

It's times like this - hot, little rain and low humidity - when plants dry out.

This makes the place a lot more likely for ...

BUSHFIRES!
I remember learning about that in school.

Does anyone else smell that?

What caused it? Take your pick!

We've got cigarette butts and an unattended camp fire!

Even the sun going through this glass bottle could have caused it!

Most of the time, these fires are started by people being irresponsible!

I reckon standing around talking while there's a fire is a bit ... oh ... IRRESPONSIBLE!

Don't worry, guys, I'VE GOT THIS!