

The world around you changes all of the time.

You can see these changes happening if you watch carefully.

Some changes happen quickly. You can see them every day.

Some changes happen slowly. You might not notice them for years.

