

Bring It On, Australia!

Patrick Butcher is the Traditional Owner who speaks directly to us in the Sharing Our Stories film Miiku & Tinta. Watch the film, then answer the questions.

I have a vision, I have a dream, that one day, you know, we won't be learning English all the time, we'll learn our first language, and English will be our second language.

And it's about time we, the Indigenous people, share our stories with Europeans as well, because they're Australians, you know, no matter what nationality they are, but they are Australian. So as Australians they should have the right to hear the First Australians' stories as well.

They say Australia is the most multicultural nation in the world, well, bring it on, Australia, let's do it!

1 Patrick Butcher wants all Australians to help make Australia truly multicultural. How is he doing this?

2 Do you agree with Patrick Butcher's point of view? Why? Why not?

3 What role do you think you can play?
