

The next morning,
Mrs O'Malley looked out the window and
there were two alligators
in her backyard.

“Shivering shudders!”
said Mrs O'Malley.

“Go back to the alley!”

But the alligators just stared and glared
and snapped their jaws,
flicked their tails
and sharpened their claws . . .

on Mrs O'Malley's fence!

